

Ruminant Fertility and Helpful Programs for Small Producers
Tuesday, January 15, 2019 at 6 PM
Agribition Center
4925 Moores Mill Rd, Huntsville, AL

The AMRV-RC&D and Alabama A&M University Extension will hold a program for small farmers on managing small ruminants with an emphasis on fertility. In addition USDA-NRCS and Rural Development representatives will discuss programs that are beneficial to producers. AMRV-RC&D representative will provide information on Free Energy Assessments for farms and small rural businesses.

Light refreshments will be provided. Please rsvp to jared.carter@amrvrcd.com or call 256-773-8495.

USDA, Alabama A&M and AMRV-RC&D are Equal Opportunity Employers, Providers, and Lenders. For additional information or to request special accommodations, contact Mike Roden @ 256-773-8495 five days or more before the desired workshop date.

Ruminants Fertility and Helpful Programs for Small Producers

Tuesday, January 15, 2019 at 6 PM

Agribition Center

4925 Moores Mill Rd, Huntsville, AL

6PM Call to Order

Mike Roden, AMRV-RC&D

Welcome

Robert Spencer, Agribition
Facilities Manager

Free Renewable Energy Assessments

Mike Roden

USDA-RD Programs

NRCS Programs

Joyce Lane, NRCS District
Conservationist

Ruminant Fertility

Robert Spencer

Minerals

J.C. Holt, Entrepreneur & Farmer

Questions

Evaluations

Mike Roden

USDA , Alabama A&M and AMRV-

RC&D are Equal Opportunity Employers, Providers, and Lenders. For additional information or to request special accommodations, contact Mike Roden @ 256-773-8495 five days or more before the desired workshop date.